

DEMING WILL BE TRUMPED IN OREGON

Trumped Up Murder Story to Avoid Returning to Salt Lake.

INDICTED AT HUNTINGTON
WORKS OFF THRILLING TALE
ON OREGON AUTHORITIES.

Richard Deming, the highwayman, will not be brought back to Salt Lake for trial on the charge of assisting Thomas Parker, now serving a ten-year sentence in the state penitentiary, in holding up Daniel Webster, a colored man. Deputy Sheriff Corliss returned from Baker City, Ore., yesterday without Deming. He says that the Oregon authorities have decided to prosecute Deming for attempting to rob a restaurant at Huntington, Ore. The man has already been indicted by the grand jury and will be brought to trial as speedily as possible.

Mr. Corliss says that the story that Deming was wanted in California for murder was a hoax practiced by the highwayman upon the Oregon authorities to avoid being sent back to Salt Lake, where he was certain of sharing the fate of his companion in crime, Parker. Apparently believing that if tried in Oregon he might escape with less than a ten-year sentence, Deming remarked that he would rather go back to Salt Lake than be taken to Sacramento, Cal., to answer to a charge of murder.

This caused much merriment in the Baker City jail to jump to the conclusion that the man had inadvertently betrayed himself and revealed the secret of a dark crime which might imperil his life.

Tells Thrilling Story.

A telegram was at once sent to Sacramento, asking if a man of Deming's description was wanted there for murder. A response was received to the inquiry. The Baker City authorities then wrote to the Sacramento police and again received no reply.

Watch will be kept upon the proceedings against the highwayman in Oregon and if he is not convicted he will be brought to Salt Lake.

Deming is the man who escaped from the county jail after pretending that he had been injured in a fall upon the floor of his cell and inducing the jail guards to have him removed to Holy Cross hospital. When captured in present at the still wearing the night shirt given him when admitted to the hospital.

His escape was cleverly planned, but was more of a sneak away than a break away. For that reason, when Deming was asked in Baker City how he had managed to escape from the jail, he told a thrilling story of having saved through steel bars and then lowered himself to the ground with a rope made of strips of blankets. He was believed until Deputy Sheriff Corliss arrived in the Oregon town with the true story.

FUNERAL OF MRS. SNOW.

Obsequies Attended by High Officials of Mormon Church.

The funeral of Mrs. Minnie J. Snow, widow of President Lorenzo Snow, was held yesterday at 10:30 o'clock. A large number of the high officials of the Mormon church were present at the services, which were held in the Eighteenth ward meeting house. Among those high in the councils of the church were in attendance: President Joseph F. Smith, John R. Winder and Anthony Lund of the first presidency; Apostles Heber J. Grant, John Henry Smith and Rudger Clawson; Elder Kimball of the first council of the services; President Brigham C. W. Nibley, State President Richard W. Young, and a large number of the general board of the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement association, in whose work Mrs. Snow had been untiring.

Bishop Clawson presided at the services, and those who spoke in eulogy of the life and character of Mrs. Snow included Apostles Rudger Clawson, John Henry Smith, President Winder, Mrs. H. M. Fingers, Mrs. Ruth M. Fox, Golden J. Kimball and President Lund.

The opening prayer was offered by Bishop Nibley. Two beautiful solos by a quartette composed of Messrs. Pyper, Whitney, Ensign and Giles, were sung. At the close of the services George D. Pyper sang the solo, "Sometime We'll Understand." J. J. McCallan played a number of selections. The final prayer was pronounced by Apostle Grant.

The body of Mrs. Snow was taken to Brigham City on the train leaving Salt Lake at 1 o'clock. It will rest in the plat wherein her husband is also buried.

PROHIBITION'S SPREAD.
More Than Half of Nation Under No-Liquor Regime.

(Bar and Buffet.)

With four states "dry" by statute, and local option prevailing in many others, it is said that more than half the nation is under prohibition laws.

Maine, North Dakota, Kansas and Georgia are the states where statutory prohibition rules.

The following statement of the conditions regarding the states where license and local prohibition exist in connection with the law compiled by temperance advocates:

Alabama—Majority of counties dry; part of others also. A county option law has just been passed, moving for state prohibition in the next two or three years.

Arkansas—Sixty out of seventy-eight counties dry. Much dry territory in other counties.

California—Four dry counties and much dry territory in other counties.

Colorado—Local option law, 1907. Connecticut—Town local option; 96 no-license to 72 license towns.

Delaware—Half dozen dry towns. State no-license campaign; voted on Nov. 5, 1907.

Florida—Thirty dry counties out of forty-five. Few saloons in the state. Move for state prohibition, led by Governor Broward.

Idaho—License, Sunday law only, passed in 1905.

Illinois—Probably 200 dry towns. Local option law, recently passed. Two dry counties.

Indiana—Three dry counties; 716 dry townships out of 1,016. Half of population in dry territory.

Iowa—Sixty-five out of ninety-nine counties dry; eleven other counties have only one saloon town. Move for state prohibition again under way.

Kentucky—Ninety-seven out of 110 counties dry; only four counties entirely wet. Saloons close on Sundays.

Louisiana—Seven-eighths of state is dry. Orders may not be solicited or received in dry territory.

Maryland—Ten out of twenty-three counties dry, two nearly dry and two others where liquor is sold in only one place.

Massachusetts—Local option by cities and towns, 250 being dry and 100 wet. Laws strict and well enforced.

Michigan—County option, with a few dry counties. If county votes wet it reverses dry vote in small unit.

Minnesota—License, with village local option, 142 dry municipalities. Sunday closing in entire state.

Mississippi—Sixty-eight out of seventy-five counties dry. State prohibition campaign actively under way.

Missouri—Forty counties dry. Sunday closing rigidly enforced by Governor Folk.

Montana—License.

Nebraska—Village and city option; 400 dry and 600 wet towns.
